I've been trying to figure out what exactly happened but unfortunately everyone has been out. Her being in jail over the holidays was never my intention. Our mental health section told me she would be transported to a different facility then she is in. My fear is that the order didn't get relayed with me being out and the holidays.

Part of the issue is that the judge issued a material witness bond due to her behavior in court (partially by her saying she was leaving and never coming back). I believe it's set at $15,000. Basically she can be put in someone's custody under the condition that she stay medicated, out of trouble, and appears for all court dates. The hook is that whoever takes custody of her is on the line for $15,000 if she doesn't do any of those things. That's why I thought HCPC would be the best bet since no one could make those guarantees. I like Landon but if she goes back with him in Longview and doesn't return, then things get very very bad for her legally. I would like for her to be able to stay with you but that would have to be your call on the issue. For the bond you only have to put 10% down but would be responsible for the entire amount if she fails to appear or the judge believe she got off her medication. I can ask for it to be lowered but won't be able to until Monday.

Although this case is important as it deals with one of the most evil and violent serial rapists I have ever come across (unfortunately I have seen a few), I still do not want to sacrifice Jenny's health for it. She is the 8th victim that we know of and we desperately need her testimony to stop there being a 9th within days of his release.

Let me know what you think.

Thanks,
